inox style TITANIUM

Valuable stainless steel and a titanium nitride alloy of one half of the scissors produce the self-sharpening effect. The hardening of the cutting bit achieved by the titanium nitride alloy, which is now about twice as hard as the uncoated cutting ridge of the scissors, causes the harder and more wear-resistant cutting edge to re-establish the softer one at each opening and closing. Thus, the scissors retain their cutting sharpness much longer as other scissors.

Long-standing tradition

Since the foundation of our company, we manufacture scissors made from a special C45 carbon steel. This material shows an excellent hardening performance but is prone to rust. Therefore, these scissors are nickel-plated, which is approved as long-term rust protection.

Valuable stainless steel and titanium nitride alloy of one half of the scissors produce the self-sharpening effect. The hardening of the cutting bit achieved by the titanium nitride alloy, which is now about twice as hard as the uncoated cutting ridge of the scissors, causes the harder and more wear-resistant cutting edge to re-establish the softer one at each opening and closing. Thus, the scissors retain their cutting sharpness much longer as other scissors.
